New (and modified) Course Syllabus Requirements:

For a sample syllabus, please visit https://www.uwyo.edu/acadaffairs/_files/docs/syllabus-template-4-12-23.pdf.

All syllabi must follow guidelines as outlined in UW Regulation 2-117(link above). There are updated syllabus guidelines for fall 2022. Syllabi not meeting these requirements will be considered incomplete.\

If a course is over the 3000-level, is it highly encouraged by the University Course Review Committee and the A&S Curriculum Committee that the course includes at least one prerequisite (such as an introductory class, COM 1 class, or Junior standing.)

ONLY IF DUAL-LISTED: If the proposed new course is intended to be Dual-listed (e.g., AAST 4065/AAST 5065), remember that the syllabus must be identical to that of the Dual-listed class, which must be proposed separately as either a modified course (if currently existing) or as another new course. For example, the syllabus for AAST 4065 should be written for AAST 4065/AAST 5065 and must show the requirements/expectations/assignments (etc.) for both undergraduate and graduate students. Moreover, each syllabus should demonstrate that graduate students engage in something like 15-20% more work than undergraduates.

ONLY IF CROSS-LISTED: If the proposed new course is intended to be Cross-Listed (e.g., AAST 4065/ENGL 4065/COJO 4065), remember that the syllabus must be identical to that of all the Cross-Listed classes, which each must be proposed separately as either a modified course(s) (if currently existing) or as another new course(s)

PREREQUISITES: In accord with UW Reg 2-100 (3H, 3I), it is recommended that multiple and significant prerequisites and/or restrictions (such as junior or senior standing), reflecting incremental subject-specific conceptual and/or skill development, adhere to 3xxx- and 4xxx-level courses. Graduate standing is typically required for 5xxx- and 6000-level courses.

Modify Course Proposal

For a Cross-Listing or Dual-Listing, required documents (e.g., syllabus, USP designation forms) must be attached for each CAP, not just for the main one being modified or proposed as a new class.

If you are modifying a Topics course, include a template syllabus that includes information about learning objectives.

If you are creating a new prefix or new course number, seek approval from Jennifer Waluta (jwaluta@uwyo.edu) before originating the new course proposal in Curriculog.
